

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement

April 19, 2005

News Release

ICE DEPORTS IRISH NATIONAL WANTED FOR MURDER

BOSTON—A 26-year-old man wanted for murder in Ireland was deported Thursday to his home country of Ireland by U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) detention and removal officers.

Cecil Anthony Lynch was deported under escort and turned over to the proper authorities to face murder charges.

On Feb. 1, 2005, special agents of ICE arrested Lynch and an associate, Jeremiah Ross, 26, for being in the U.S. illegally. Both individuals entered the United States in March of 2003. They were granted temporary admission for 90 days. As noted on their arrival /departure records, both Lynch and Ross were required by law to depart the country no later than 90 days after entry, but they failed to do so.

ICE agents received information from the FBI that Lynch and Ross were illegal aliens living in the Boston area and that they were also wanted for murder in Cork City, Ireland. ICE, with the assistance of the FBI, Massachusetts State Police and Boston Police, were able to locate and arrest Lynch and Ross in Brighton, Massachusetts.

Ross, who was deported by ICE on March 16, 2005, was also turned over to Irish authorities to face the outstanding murder charges against him.

“The United States will not be a safe haven for murderers,” said ICE Special Agent-in-Charge Robin M. Avers. “We will continue working with our law enforcement partners abroad to identify and remove those seeking to evade justice. Our message is clear: you will be found, arrested and deported.”

The Office of Detention and Removal Operations (DRO), one of five ICE divisions, is responsible for promoting public safety and national security by ensuring the departure of all removable aliens from the United States through the effective enforcement of the nation’s immigration laws.

ICE

U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement was established in March 2003 as the largest investigative arm of the Department of Homeland Security. ICE is comprised of five integrated divisions that form a 21st century law enforcement agency with broad responsibilities for a number of key homeland security priorities.